2022 National Public Opinion Reference Survey (NPORS) Online Questionnaire

Note: The online questionnaire contains more questions than the paper questionnaire because a subset of respondents to the online survey were eventually asked if they were willing to join the American Trends Panel. More information is needed about adults who join the panel. The NPORS sample, however, includes all adults completing the online or paper questionnaire regardless of whether they agreed to join the panel. The NPORS dataset contains only the questions measured both on paper and online. Several questions (e.g., age, education, income) were asked slightly differently in the paper and online questionnaires, but the public dataset provides variables recoded such that data can be combined across the modes.
