QUESTIONS P.3-5 AND Q.27-35 PREVIOUSLY RELEASEED; NO QUESTION 30

 $^{^{37}}$ In the April 1993 PSRA/Newsweek survey, the question was only asked among parents with children ages 10-16. It was also preceded by a question that asked how often they have dinner with their children. The questions used to filter parents with young children did not explicitly include stepchildren.

 $^{^{38}}$ For both trends, only parents with children younger than 17 were asked. The questions used to filter parents with young children in each survey did not explicitly include stepchildren. For July 2009 it asked if the respondent had any children 16 or younger; for April 1993 it asked if there were any children ages 16 or younger in the household.
