| Impacted paragraph/footnote/chart | Two types of changes were made throughout this document: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. In a topline introduction paragraph that lists which countries were asked about the importance of different religions, we removed Mexico from the row about Christianity and added a separate row indicating that respondents in Mexico were asked about Catholicism. Topline PDF page 22. In topline tables, we updated footnotes for question Q34/Q36a to note that respondents in Mexico were asked about Catholicism rather than Christianity. Topline PDF pages 42 and 43 |
| Note | Due to a translation error identified after publication, the question (Q34/Q36a) on the Mexico survey asked about the importance of being "Catholic" rather than being "Christian." Care should be taken when directly comparing Mexico to other countries on this question. We updated the topline introduction and footnotes for the impacted question to note that respondents in Mexico were asked about Catholicism. |
