10 Nation Survey of Renewalists
-FINAL TOPLINE-

Country	Dates	General public	Sample sizes among...
			Pentecostals (general public and oversamples)	Charismatics (general public and oversamples)
United States	July 20 – Sept 7, 2006	739	119	421
Brazil	May 13 – May 30, 2006	700	313	329
Chile	May 12 – May 28, 2006	600	276	286
Guatemala	May 5 – May 31, 2006	1,005	410	487
Kenya	May 17 – May 26, 2006	655	403	306
Nigeria	May 15 – July 27, 2006	650	483	67*
South Africa	May 11 – May 27, 2006	800	259	344
India (localities)	May 16 – June 9, 2006	726	409	125
Philippines	May 6 – May 29, 2006	1,000	309	433
South Korea	May 8 – May 26, 2006	600	131	333

The “General public” column reports the number of interviews completed among the general public in each country. To increase the number of interviews with renewalists, pentecostals and charismatics were oversampled. The numbers reported in the “Pentecostals” and “Charismatics” columns reflect the total number of interviews completed in each country among these groups after combining pentecostals and charismatics from the general public surveys and the oversamples. Those pentecostals and charismatics interviewed via oversampling are not included in the “General public” column above or in the tables that follow.

Please note that, due to rounding, in some instances the figures reported in this topline do not sum to 100.

Data are based on national samples except in Brazil, South Africa, South Korea and India. In Brazil, South Africa and South Korea samples are disproportionately urban.

In India, surveys were conducted in disproportionately Christian districts of three states with large Christian populations (Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Meghalaya); this survey IS NOT representative of the general population of India, nor is it representative of the population of the three Indian states in which it was conducted.

See the Methodological Appendix for more details.

*The Nigerian survey included only 67 charismatics, too few for Nigerian charismatics to be analyzed separately. As a result, this report does not include results for Nigerian charismatics.

NOTE: Due to a question sequencing error in the 2006 U.S. questionnaire the religious affiliation question produced inaccurate results for a small number of respondents. A majority of these respondents were recontacted to collect more accurate information about their religious affiliation, and the corrected measure (shown here) is reliable for nearly all respondents. However, the marginal results may slightly overstate the percent of Americans who have no religion because not all could be recontacted.
